

Willow Class Newsletter

Dear parents,

What a fantastic first half term I've had teaching Willow Class! We started off our English unit with a treasure hunt where the children had to find picture clues to piece together, that were hidden around the playground, to guess what our model story is about. The children really enjoyed learning the story off by heart and using actions to help them, before writing their own adventure stories based on the model text. In Maths this half term, we have been focussing on fractions and decimals including; recognising equivalent fractions, finding fractions of quantities and recognising fraction and decimal equivalences.

Careers Week

This half term, we celebrated Careers Week and were very lucky to have some fantastic speakers come in to share about their careers. The speakers included; a Creative Director at Microsoft, a journalist, a personal trainer, a visual effects designer for films and many more. The children were really inspired and wrote a letter to their favourite speaker to thank them.

Topic

The children have really enjoyed topic where we explored our key concepts (fear, failure, strength and perseverance) and our Big Question: Is it ok to fail? Thank you to all of the parents who were able to make our end of term outcome. The children did a fantastic job - Well done Willow Class!
